What about the two men killed several days ago in Kenosha as well as a 13 year old boy shot? Nothing, absolutely nothing. No outrage over that, no one talks about it, only when police are involved. Absolutely appalling!!

See the whole video taken by bystanders. They could have subdued him before he got to his vehicle. If he did have a gun in the vehicle than I don't know what to say. This is gonna cause some huge backlash.

I have the whole video. They shouldn't have shot him, but by the time he opened the door and reached into the car there was no way of telling if he had a gun or not. With all the gun violence going on in Kenosha those police had no choice. My cousin was just shot and killed on Thursday not too far from where this happened by two young black men and you won't hear me out here calling them racist even if they called him a bitch ass white boy before they killed him because I know that a few people of a

If he was in fact resisting why let him get all the way to his car enough to open the door and reach into his vehicle, why wasn't he tased? Why did this result in him getting shot 7 times???

That's the cry "He's reaching" now let's empty the mag point blank in his back okay...no need tasing, pepperspraying or tackling him before he gets to the driver's door or the front of the car or the passengers door or as soon as he stood up and cuff him, anyway he's reaching lemme drop 8 caps in him n write a report.

What will everyone say if there is no gun? They had plenty of time and cops to pull him to the ground. He was unarmed and was breaking a fight between two women. This is WRONG! That officer should be charged. Guess I'll be staying in my house with the doors locked. Our town will riot I'm sure.

Even if there wasn't a gun in the car, the cop shouldn't be charged. If someone reaches around in a car while being detained then the officer is trained to be prepared for a deadly fight

If police say stop why not stop? You don't want to get shot, well guess what the result of not stopping is. Not saying he deserved to get shot before someone say I said that. Hopefully he survives

He we go again. The man was unarmed, no threat at all and the coward officer fired 6-7 shots. And for what? No reason at all. And Americans wonder why the police cannot be trusted and is desperate for reform-PATHETIC!

If that guy did have a gun, then he sadly was asking for it. If not, then that officer must be charged for murder.
